The royal Japanese visitors are passengers on the steamer Carmania, due at New York Tuesday.

Adding on behalf of President Taft, Captain Sherwood A. Cheney, one of the president's aides, will meet the prince and princess and serve as their personal aide. REQUISITION NOT ISSUED

Governor William Spry Not Certain About Charge Made and Withholds Signature.

Another effort was made yesterday to induce Governor William Spry to issue a requisition for the return of Frank E. Baldwin, alias Fred L. Bowen, who is under arrest at Reno, Nev., on information furnished from Salt Lake charging him with embezzlement. Governor Spry yesterday again refused to issue a requisition, as Bowen is charged with stealing only $43 from the United Wireless Telegraph company, of which he was agent.

O. S. Brewster, Utah representative of the company, added more facts yesterday, charging that Bowen had stolen $125 from the company in the sale of 1,500 shares of the Keefe Consolidated Railway Time Saving company, increasing the total to $175. Requisition can not be made for less than $50. Governor Spry was uncertain about the charge in regard to the Keefe stock, and withheld his signature. Mr. Brewster declared he was willing to pay the expenses of an officer to go to Reno to bring Bowen back, and the company is eager to punish the man.

Another alleged defalcation of Bowen will be brought out by M. L. Brewster in an effort to have the papers issued by Governor Spry within a day or two that Bowen can be brought back to be placed on trial.

COMMITTEE WILL MEET

Men Named by Governor to Entertain the President Will Perfect the Arrangements.

A meeting of the committee on committees for the entertainment of President William H. Taft and party during their stay in Salt Lake during the latter part of the month will be held in the office of Governor William Spry this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of making more complete details for the president and to name some of the sub-committees to enlarge upon the plans already made.

Howell, Mayor John S. Bransford of Salt Lake, Mayor A. L. Brewer of Ogden, Chief Justice D. N. Straup of the supreme court, John Derr, D. C. GOOD WORD FOR UTAH BY RETURNING TRAVELER

W. S. MCCORMICK.

MCCORMICK ON HIS WAY HOME

Says He Finds Conditions Excellent in the Foreign Copper Market.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.) New York, Sept. 1.—W. S. McCormick, a leading banker of Salt Lake, is back from Carlsbad, Austria, and is the guest in this city of his sons, Willis S. and Clarence K. McCormick of the stock exchange firm of McCormick Bros.

When asked about the state of the copper metal market abroad and the prospects he said: "Conditions are good." He was optimistic regarding the mining situation in the camps around Salt Lake. Mr. McCormick has been treasurer for many years of the Daly West mine at Park City, Utah. He said the work of draining the lower levels of the mine through the drainage tunnel of the old Ontario mine was being prosecuted under great difficulties, but there was no doubt of its ultimate success.

Water is pouring into it in great volume and it has been difficult to get men to work steadily under such uncomfortable conditions. This is the only cause of delay and he said that no engineering difficulties whatever had been encountered. Mr. McCormick said he hopes that the smelter troubles in the valley of Jordan have been settled for all time.

The smelters at Murray have installed the bag system of condensing fumes in their works and have given up treating the more troublesome classes of ores and the farmers in the valley find nothing to complain of during the present season.

WARM WELCOME TO JAPANESE

Representatives of Mikado's Empire Delighted With Their Reception Here.

Seattle, Sept. 1.—The commercial commissioners sent by the chambers of commerce of six leading cities of Japan to travel through the United States to promote commerce and friendship between the two countries landed here today, and received a warm welcome that delighted the visitors. The representative character of the party is shown by the participation of Baron Shibusawa, the banker and statesman; of Baron Kanda, the educator; and of President Matsukata of the Kobe shipyards.

Officers of the steamship Minnesota, which brought the commissioners from Yokohama, say that never in the history of Japan has there been so spontaneous and enthusiastic a demonstration as that which greeted the Japanese trade envoys from Yokohama.

The commissioners spent the afternoon sightseeing or resting at their hotel. Tonight they were entertained at dinner on the World's Fair grounds by Hajime Ota, Imperial commissioner general to the exposition. The ladies were dinner guests of Consul Tanaka and wife.

At the landing place the visitors were met by Governor Marion E. Hay of Washington, Mayor John F. Miller of Seattle, J. D. Lowman, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the eight large cities of the Pacific coast, and a delegation of business men. The three officials made speeches welcoming the Japanese. Representatives of the Japanese responded briefly.

WONDERFUL FACTS ABOUT NEW YORK

Gotham Consumed by Fire Once in Every Twelve Years.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)

New York, Sept. 1.—The astonishing fact that all New York is consumed by fire once in every twelve years has just been brought to light here by the compilation of figures covering the losses by conflagration during the last twenty-six years—that is, since 1882. It is not true that the entire city is simultaneously consumed by fire during each twelve-year period, but it is true that the fire losses in twelve years equals the total value of all the city's new buildings.

Even the basis of the burning of Rome was a mere trifle compared to that which goes on here every year. Since 1882 the value of the property destroyed by fire has exceeded $125,000,000. As 125,496 fires go to make up this total, the average annual loss is almost $500,000, which does not include the expense to the city of 20,000 false alarms. The figures show that a fire alarm is received every twenty-five minutes, and that an actual fire occurs on an average of less than every two hours, or at the rate of thirteen a day, or 4,746 each year.

The annual loss has shown variations to an extent which would seem conclusive that the city is no law of fire averages. Thus, though the city grew rapidly in the fourteen years from 1882 to 1896, the loss by fire in the latter year was less than in 1882, and smaller than in any previous year except 1898. The fire loss in 1898 was $2,500,000. The new buildings is a record calculated not only to make New York, who is popularly supposed to have the most fires, but one which is causing Father Knickerbocker a considerable amount of worry.

Rain and Snow.

Not less than 300,000,000 tons, or 400,000,000,000 pounds of rain and snow drop on this city every year, according to the calculations of engineers, and the new record of the city of New York, when 6,000,000 tons of water fell on Manhattan in twenty-four hours, has accentuated the problem of disposal of the water. It is held to be the most difficult question of storm water disposal in the world. As compared with the question of disposal of rain for an underground and under-river entrance to this city for a trunk line railroad is comparatively simple, and the disposal of rainfall amounting in a year to a quantity equal to a good sized lake is an engineering problem, which is given as one of the difficulties. The existing sewer systems of all the five boroughs, which constitute Greater New York, are at present greatly overtaxed. The plans from which they were built were based on formulas in vogue forty or fifty years ago.

These early formulas make provision for rainfall at a maximum rate of an inch an hour. It frequently happens today that three inches of rain will fall in an hour, and as a result the city engineers are faced with the necessity of providing storm sewer accommodations capable of caring for a flow as large as the city's present capacity. The city is spending hundreds of millions of dollars to build a new sewer system, and is faced with the necessity of spending an almost equally large amount to get water out of the city.

Long walls of protest over the manner in which the new city hall is being built are being enforced are heard with the arrival of practically every steamer from abroad. The great ocean liners seem to have felt the burden most heavily and the recent experience of the Capitola, which was stuck in the harbor, has stirred up all sorts of criticism. Many of the experiences under the new rules are remarkable, such as the instance as that of Captain Turner of one of the largest transatlantic craft.

On the last arrival of his vessel here the captain was accompanied by his 14-year-old niece, who, as she went ashore with the captain, was holding a cake of chocolate which she carried in her hand. On reaching the gate at the end of the dock the pair were stopped by a customs officer, who asked the niece to show him the chocolate. The girl, who was very young, could not be taken ashore unless duty was paid. The half-eaten cake was confiscated and the girl was told that her ship voyaging vengeance. Just what became of the chocolate appears to be uncertain.

New Silk Kerchief.

In another instance as the home comes away leaving their vessel a customs officer saw what he thought to be a new while silk handkerchief sticking out of a passenger's coat pocket, and it was not until the owner had returned to the customs dock and paid duty on the article that the girl was allowed to bring it ashore. On the same day the second officer of a steamer which had just docked started for a short stroll ashore with a light overcoat thrown over his arm. He, too, was stopped and told that he would have to pay duty on the coat. He, too, was told that the matter would have ended in blows had not a friend informed the officer that if he put the overcoat behind him, he could not be interfered with. Such proved to be the case and so the coat went to the customs dock. The story of the returning passenger has never been a happy one, but the new customs regulations resulting from the tariff act have been so strict that it is now to be even more productive of trouble.

The recent dental work, as revealed at a hearing before the state board of charities, is calculated to make people think that the returning ocean passenger has never been a happy one, but the new customs regulations resulting from the tariff act have been so strict that it is now to be even more productive of trouble.
